ABOUT ME

Hello there!
I'm Atiqul Islam Ashif, a professional graphic designer with a background in Computer Science Engineering. I am currently expanding my skill set and delving into the fascinating world of UX/UI design.
I have a deep-seated passion for machine learning and its potential to transform the way we interact with technology. In the future, I see myself leveraging these diverse skills to become a data analyst, helping to drive data-driven decision-making and innovation.
